President's Message

The month of June and the June dinner meeting bring to a close my term as your President of SEAOSC. I want to express my sincere gratitude for the great support I received from the Board of Directors; Committee Chairs; Don Gilbert, executive director; and from you the members of this association.

A successful year can only be achieved through volunteer energy of your members. Reflecting back it is easy to see the programs presented were a collection of effort from many different members.

The year began with a second seminar on the Seismic Design Manual, Volume I presented by four members of our association. This seminar was followed by other seminars on AISC steel provisions in the 97 code; The structural engineer's role in the submittal process, ASD comparison to LRFD in wood designs; new advances in the Blue Book foundations and on expansive soils. Again I say thanks to the many members who toiled long in preparing for the presentations.

The past year also included a very successful state convention hosted by SEAOSC in Santa Barbara. For the first time, under the capable leadership of our two computer "gurus", convention online registra-
